Presidents Message ~ Sherry Williams

This year we had so many amazing rhizomes for our Annual Rhizome Sale! Contributions from our members and from our public garden resulted in a tremendous selection for our July 27th sale. Over 500 people came and took advantage of the vast array of rhizomes for their gardens. Thank you to everyone who worked at the sale, including two new members who jumped in and helped out.

We had lots of remaining rhizomes and we now have approximately 900 potted iris at Brenda Griffin's wonderful place. Brenda will, again, keep our pots over the winter for our spring sale. We need to give Brenda a HUGE thank you! She allows us to use her well organized property for potting, pot storage, and cares for our little ones until they're big and beautiful.

Our next meeting is September 7th at the Prescott Valley Library, Crystal Room. This is our rhizome silent auction, ice cream social, and photo contest. It's a lot of fun! You can bid for and win some wonderful iris new to our area and several newly introduced cultivars. You can also vote on photos you think are the best of the best and eat delicious ice cream & toppings.

Plan on joining us, we want to see all of friends.

PAIS - July 2019 Marking Party... ~ by Sherry Williams

I won't name names, but one of our members dug rhizomes for weeks, right Bill? (Whoops! Sorry, I wasn't going to name anyone). Some of our members dug for days in our public gardens at Yavapai College, Embry-Riddle & Sharlot Hall and they dug in their own gardens and other members' gardens. All combined we had thousands of rhizomes ready for cleaning, trimming, marking, and sorting at our marking party.

Thank you to everyone that dug iris in their own gardens, a friend's garden, or one of our gardens and then contributed some to our Summer Rhizome Sale. Thank you to everyone that cleaned the rhizomes, trimmed the rhizomes, marked them with their name & year of introduction and priced them. Thank you to everyone that made sure we had them marked as correctly as possible. Thank you to everyone that organized, stacked, moved, transported, loaded, & unloaded to make sure all the rhizomes stayed safe and arrived at our sale. Thank you to everyone that baked, cooked, & BBQ to make sure we ate. If you missed the party, plan on it for next year, great people, lots of rhizomes to work with and delicious food.

PAIS is recognized nationwide for our historical and hybridizer gardens. If you haven't come out to our work parties at the gardens, add it to your bucket list of things to do. As a relatively new member to this group, I learned more about what and what not to do by going out to these work days and I have gained the most valuable gift - amazing friends!

Brenda Griffin served this yummy dish at our July "Marking Party", and is submitting this recipe, stolen from the internet, in response to the request of one of our members.

Mexican Street Corn Salad (Esquites)

Directions

Heat oil in a large non-stick skillet or wok over high heat until shimmering. Add corn kernels, season to taste with salt, toss once or twice, and cook without moving until charred on one side, about 2 minutes. Toss corn, stir, and repeat until charred on second side, about 2 minutes longer. Continue tossing and charring until well charred all over, about 10 minutes total. Transfer to a large bowl.

Add mayonnaise, cheese, scallions, cilantro, jalapeño, garlic, lime juice, and chili powder and toss to combine. Taste and adjust seasoning with salt and more chili powder to taste. Serve immediately.

2 tablespoons vegetable oil
4 ears fresh corn, shucked, kernels removed (about 3 cups fresh corn kernels)

Kosher salt

2 tablespoons mayonnaise

2 ounces feta or cotija cheese, finely crumbled

1/2 cup finely sliced scallion greens

1/2 cup fresh cilantro leaves, finely chopped

jalapeño pepper, seeded and stemmed, finely chopped

1 to 2 medium cloves garlic, pressed or minced (about 1 to 2 teaspoons)

1 tablespoon fresh juice from 1 lime

Chili powder or hot chili flakes, to taste

Rhizome Sale 2019 ~ by Sherry Williams

Our rhizome sale was a resounding success with gross sales over $8000. Profits will fill our coffers so we can again have a horticultural scholarship for a Yavapai College student, start an endowment for Horticulture students at Yavapai, contribute to the Yavapai Food Bank, contribute to Region 15 of the American Iris Society, and have funds for maintenance needed at our gardens... other than the work all of us do for clean-up, trimming, planting, weeding, etc.

I want to thank our members who so willing give their time and energy to make this event successful. Thank you to everyone that moved tables, set up tables, cleaned floors & tables, organized boxes & bags of rhizomes, organized the sale, helped the nearly 500 folks that came to our sale, tallied, bagged and cashiered. Thank you to everyone that help keep our spirits up because it is exhausting work, made us smile, helped us laugh at ourselves (and others sometimes). We can't do what we do without our members volunteering. Thank you for being the awesome group you are.

August 2019 Rhizomes Potting Party ~ by Shery Williams

We had a pot party! Whoops, I mean a potting party. All the rhizomes left from our amazing sale needed to be nestled into new homes so they can grow big and strong for our Spring Sale.

With lots folks, the morning went quickly! Coffee & sweet rolls were enjoyed by all. We even got some rain!

Monarch Butterflies Return to The Prescott Area

Article adapted from Cathy Palm-Gessner's 7-27-2019 email announcement

Great News! We now have Monarch butterflies in the Prescott area.

On July 20, Rebecca sighted a monarch in the Historic Hassayampa area and another Monarch down in Prescott Valley., both in flight. Phil saw one Thursday, July 25, at Pioneer Park, Prescott. Thank you for your sightings.

If you have never sent in a sighting, please try to get a photo, so I can include your sighting on our data sheet. Sorry, but I do NEED a photo since often people confuse Monarchs with Queens, Painted Ladies and even 2 Tailed Yellow Swallow-tails! Please check out this site for the ID differences: <https://swmonarchs.org/queen-monarch.php>

Here are the first sighting dates in Prescott for the past 6 years:
2014: July 17 ~ 2015: July 9 ~ 2016: June 25 ~ 2017: June 23 ~
2018: June 13 ~ 2019: July 20

The following people have contacted me about learning to tag monarchs: Chris B., Lois C., Rebecca B., Phyllis J, Mark, Celia L. If you would also like to learn please send me an email. We won't start to tag till more monarchs show up.

I am looking for more patches of horsetail milkweed to monitor for monarch larvae and adults. Please let me know if you have seen any. It can be 1' to 3' tall and is blooming right now.

Thank you for all your interest and help with the monarchs,

Cathy Palm-Gessner

Calling All Gardeners: A Quest to Save Rare Irises - Gardenista .com

Arthur Bliss
Marsh Marigold - 1919

Arthur Bliss was an English iris breeder whose early 20th century varieties are being carefully cultivated in Gloucestershire. Broullon also cited the Presby garden's work in assisting people trying to accurately restore historic gardens. They depend, she said, on the existence of older cultivars for authenticity in reestablishing period landscapes.

Iris Gone Missing: Share the List!

We're sharing the Historic Iris Preservation Society's (HISP) current list of Irises Gone Missing. These are cultivars that have disappeared off our Member Databank in the last two years. Please share this list with your iris club members! We've already located a few of them that will make their way into the Guardian Gardens program this summer, thanks to a couple of generous HIPS friends.

Attn: PAIS members! PLEASE note the list has been sent as an attachment with this newsletter. Check to see if you're growing any of these Iris in your gardens.

ALERT! It's Iris Rhizome Munching Season...

Article & Photos: Cynthe Brush

Our local Quad-City area is known for five seasons..the usual four, plus monsoons (July 'til mid-September...which have been weak this year). But for iris gardeners there's another dreaded season that occurs just before the rains arrive, when temperatures are scorching, patience is short, the land is parched, and so are wild critters, above and below ground. It's iris rhizome munching season.

The final week of August, gophers attacked two separate flower beds on my property, munching three different iris cultivars: a beautiful clump of SDB 'Going In Circles,' TB 'Stormrider' ~ a single, slow growing rhizome ~ that may not recover, and a vigorous clump of TB 'Red Velvet Dress.'

What Can We Gardeners Do to Protect Our Iris?

I took action, but more slowly than I should have. Forked up each clump only after at least one rhizome was munched. Inspected, divided, and trimmed the fans before replanting them in protective homemade root cages of my own design.

After several years of assembling root cages, I've determined the best proportions for iris: 8 inches deep and 14 to 18 inches in diameter, so vigorous rhizomes can grow into nice clumps in 3 years. I use hardware cloth made of galvanized metal in a 1/4 inch mesh grid for the walls and chicken wire for the base.

It takes time to put the root cages together. Often wish I had a magic wand. But the effort saves my iris from predation. And is a non-lethal option for those of us who don't want to kill wildlife, simply trying to survive.

Other deterrants are:

- * Ruin the gopher holes or pack a prickly pinecone in the opening.
- * Dump vanilla flavored coffee beans in their runs (vanilla's toxic to gophers). They'll avoid it.

The easiest solution is to make raised beds. Line the base of the bed with hardware cloth or chickenwire and have fun planting!

Above: My favorite tools for making rootcages with a sample cage for a perennial: 6 inches tall and just shy of 12 inches wide.

Left: Chewed rhizome, both back & front. It's replanted in the safety of a root cage. Will be a joy if it survives!
